Premier Clemenceau in his instructions to the Austrian delegates informed them that no oral discussions will be allowed and that observation must be made in a maximum of 15 days. Clemenceau finished his speech at 12:49. His speech was translated in English, Italian and German. The treaty was presented to the Austrians at 12:39. Premier Rennis replied in French.

Austrian nationalists cannot serve in military or naval or aerial forces of foreign powers. She must send no military, naval or aerial mission to any foreign country.

DR. G. W. EMIGH PASSES AWAY

The Community was shocked Saturday morning on learning of the death of Dr. Emigh one of the town's best known physicians. He had been seriously ill for only two weeks, and during part of that time he was able to give some attention to his patients. Many of his intimate friends were wholly unaware of his illness. Gargene of the foot caused his death, which occurred at his residence corner of Third and Laurel streets at 2:15 this morning. He suffered from an attack of the disease about seven years ago, but recovered after taking treatment in a city hospital.

George Washington Emigh was born at the old Emigh homestead, near Morrisdale on March 10, 1856. His parents were Jonathan and Elizabeth Mary (Evans) Emigh. In 1884 he graduated from the New York Medical College, and began the practice of medicine at Woodland. He was stationed there for eight years and in 1893 completed a postgraduate course at the New York College. It was then that he came to Philipsburg, and has resided here and successfully practiced medicine here since that date.

Besides his wife, who was Miss Ella Howe, a teacher in the Philipsburg public schools at the time of her marriage to Dr. Emigh, in October, 1884, he is survived by two brothers and one sister, namely: Jonathan Emigh, of Morrisdale, Frank Emigh, Clymer, Indiana county and Florence, wife of Thomas Rounds, of Morrisdale. One child was born to the couple, Walton whose tragic death in his early boyhood was a grievous blow to the father.

Dr. Emigh was greatly liked by the townspeople and by all who knew him. He was kind and sympathetic and was most happy when he felt that his ministrations were giving relief to suffering humanity. His death has occasioned the deepest regret.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church, but because there is no Presbyterian minister here now, Rev. Franklin T. Eastment, of St. Paul's Episcopal church will have charge of the funeral service, which will be held at the residence on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service will be private to all but relatives and near friends, and it has been requested that flowers be omitted. Burial will be made in the local cemetery.—Philipsburg Daily Journal.

MORE DOUGHELOYS ACTIVE

NEW YORK, June 2—The transport Graf Waldersee today returned 350 men of the 12th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th regiments of the 31st Division, and the 20th Engineers' train of the 31st Division.

305TH AMMUNITION TRAIN OUTFIT HAS REACHED CAMP DIX

PHILADELPHIA, June 1—With the distinction of having been one of the few regiments to remain in the Meuse-Argonne offensive from the day it began until the offensive ended—a total of 48 days—the Three Hundred Fifth Ammunition Train, of the Eightieth Division, debarked at Snyder avenue pier today from the steamship Canandaigua. Of the 1,372 men aboard, 80 were Philadelphians. The Shoshone and the Gen. Gorgas also arrived.

Aboard the Canandaigua were 50 men with wound chevrons. Six men of the trains were killed in line of duty. With the arrival of the ships tomorrow, practically the entire Eightieth Division will have reached port. Several other ships, including the battleship New Jersey and the transport Kanana, are enroute here with members of the division, but with the exception of the Kanana, due Thursday, none is carrying large numbers of men from the Pittsburgh district.

These troops will be mustered out at Camp Dix. W. O. Hoover in a telephone conversation with his wife in Clearfield stated that he had visited with the 305th boys following their arrival in Philly. Had talked with Glasgow, Troch, Roy Fullington, Ray Shaw, Bill Doka, Pete Shade and found the boys all in the very best of shape and dead nervous to hit old Clearfield again.

GEORGE S. MILLER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

George Smith Miller, only son of W. C. Miller, Esq., died at his home in Philadelphia at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning after a brief illness from pneumonia followed by pneumonia. News of his serious illness was received by the young man's father on Wednesday last and that evening, accompanied by his daughter Julia, Mr. Miller left for his son's bedside and was with him when the final summons came.

George Smith Miller was born in Clearfield twenty-seven years ago. He got his education in the Clearfield schools and later took up electrical engineering at State College. He went to the front in his profession, and for several years held a very responsible position with the Miller Engineering and Construction company in Philadelphia. He was climbing life's ladder quite successfully and his death just as the future with its great promise was opening before him was a sad shock to his host of warm friends and a heart-crushing blow to his loved ones.

He leaves a widow and one child and is also survived by his father and two sisters, Julia, of Clearfield, and Mrs. William Van Allen, of Northumberland, Pa.

The remains will be brought to Clearfield on the 6:45 train Tuesday evening and the funeral will be held from the Miller home on West Front street Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Hillcrest cemetery.

MAY REPAINT THOSE ANCIENT CARS

We are informed by "grapevine groundless" over our exclusive system that the Traveler's Insurance Company is arranging to establish a bus line between Clearfield and Tyrone for the purpose of transporting their policy holders over the mountains between the two points.

The Traveler's, like Steve Brice, are willing to take a chance, but those ancient fencible passenger cars on the Penna. are regarded as beyond the pale.

Hon. Joseph E. Phillips, is arranging to introduce a bill in Pennsylvania legislature providing for the repainting of these old wooden cars. At present they are all of different and varying shades and degrees of color, in fact, they appear to have been spotted out by a real camouflage artist. The Hon. Joe refused to admit that they call it the "Pennsylvania legislature" because the Penna. Railroad owns it, but a whole lot of people think there is more truth than poetry in the claim.

LANDED FIVE YOUTHS IN HUNTINGDON

Sheriff Gorman loaded five Clearfield county young men in his automobile Thursday morning last, and transported them across the mountains to Huntingdon Reformatory, where they will remain as the guests of Clearfield county until legally discharged.

WILL NOT MODIFY TREATY BIG FOUR TELLS GERMANS

PARIS, June 1—In reply to the counter proposals by the German delegates, the Big Four will inform Count Brockdorff-Rantzau that no ground has been found for any further modifications of the original terms. The delegates will be given one week in which to sign the treaty. At the expiration of that period, if the Germans refuse to sign, the allied armies will move forward to the objectives assigned to them in the heart of Germany and the food blockade will be rigidly enforced.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, June 2—The fact that the German counter proposals practically constitute a new treaty lead to the belief today that the Allies' reply will not be completed before the first of next week. Big Four experts have been commissioned to study every point voiced by the Germans with a view to singling out any worth while suggestion.

HUNGARIAN ADMIRAL REPORTED ASSASSINATED

ZURICH, June 2—A Budapest dispatch today reported that Admiral von Horthy, former commander of the Austro-Hungarian fleet, has been assassinated by the Red Guard.

NO TELEGRAPH STRIKE ORDERED

WASHINGTON, June 2—Arriving in Washington from Montreal this morning, President S. J. Korontamp of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America silenced all talk of a nation wide walk out of wire workers today as a result of the discharge of 100 Atlanta telephone workers. "The Atlanta affair is a local one," said Korontamp. "While we will call out all the wire workers in that city if the girls are not reinstated today and while the situation may be a preliminary of the big strike pending, a date for the big strike has not yet been set."

PROCLAMATION OF THE BURGESS

Clearfield people generally seem to have sight of the fact that the Burgesses forbid the throwing of ashes, open clippings and rubbish of any kind upon the streets and alleys of the borough, and in accordance with this lapse, the street employees are given a lot of additional work, while the appearance of the town suffers greatly therefrom.

Therefore, all persons are once more notified to desist from this practice. Hereafter in every case reported to the Burgess, where citizens have thrown ashes, open clippings, newspapers or other rubbish on public streets or alleys of the borough, prosecution will be brought and the offender made to pay the penalty prescribed by the Ordinance.

The Highway Department is making an effort to put the dirt streets in proper shape, and this rubbish not only looks unsightly, but being loose washes into the inlet and clogs same with the first dash of rain, thereby causing overflow and damage to property.

Citizens generally will please desist this proclamation and thus avoid the unpleasantness of an arrest for violation of the ordinance.

NEW BOUNTY LAW NOW IN FORCE

INFORMATION REGARDING
NEW BOUNTY LAW ACTOFFICE OF THE
BOARD OF GAME COMMISSIONERS

House Bill, No. 419, giving this office the authority to issue checks direct to claimants for bounty has been signed by the Governor and after June 1st, 1919, will be the law in this State. Under the provisions of this Act, a bounty of $5.00 will be paid for wild cats, $1.00 for a mink, and $2.00 each for foxes and weasels.

Special Deputy Game Warden are authorized by this act to receive affidavits of this character and are entitled to the same for that a Justice could claim for the same, but must supply himself with a proper identifying seal at his own expense. A paid Game Protector is not entitled to such a fee. All individuals in the State authorized to administer oaths can take such affidavits.

Any effort to secure the increased bounty on either a wild cat or a weasel as provided for by the Act through the presentation of the skin of an animal killed before June 1st, 1919, is punishable by fine and imprisonment, and a full allowance in this respect is made.

Mrs. R. M. Colwell, of West River street is visiting her son and daughter in Toledo, Ohio, at present. In a letter to a Clearfield friend, Mrs. Colwell says that all the people of Toledo are busy now in talking about the big prize fight to be held there on July 4th, when Jack Dempsey attempts to win the world's championship from Willard.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience
as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority
on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

There is a longing for a home deeply
rooted in the mind of every man, woman and child. Oftentimes the individual does not realize that he has this longing. But it is there and is brought to the surface in many ways. It may be the desire for a garden; for a breathing space all his own, or it may be the realization that the children
need a place to play.

But what appeals to the thrifty citizen
is the fact that it is economical
to own a home. Money does not come is at the rear corner. How well the fixtures are arranged in the kitchen,

so as to make the work easy, is shown on the floor plan.

Off one corner of the dining room
is a hall, at the end of which is the bathroom. Both bedrooms, 13 by 11 feet, also open off this hall. Plenty of closet room is provided, there being one in the vestibule, one in each
bedroom and one in the hall.

Under the whole of the house is the basement, which is reached by stairs opening off the kitchen. The fine for the heating plant is at the front, so that the portion of the basement may be partitioned off, to keep the heat
and the dirt from the fuel away from
the vegetables and other storage rooms.

From this brief description and from
the exterior view and the floor plan, it may be seen that this is an exceptional bungalow design. However, it always is well to consult an architect before
building. In comparison to the advice
he can give the prospective builder,
his fee is small. It is easy to make costly mistakes in building, and with a reputable architect these will be avoided. The cost of this bungalow can be ascertained from him, or the
local contractor or material dealer,
there being no fixed price on labor and
materials that will apply to all parts of the country.

Buying a home is not a hard matter.
In almost every community bankers,
real estate men and local chambers
of commerce have devised, or are now devising, plans that will enable
any reputable man of family to build his home this year. After the house
is erected, the cost can be paid as rent, covering a period of years. In this way every man can own his home.

When the satisfaction that comes

easily. Consequently its full buying power should be realized. Many believe that renting a home is cheaper than buying one. It is worse so there would be no investment in tangible property. Every renter can rest assured that when he pays rent he is not only paying for the house he lives in, but a profit besides. Just now, with fewer homes than there are families to live
in them, the profit is what might be called "handsome." The property owner,
like most other business men, has something that is in demand and he gets all the profit he can. It is economic to be your own landlord.

The need for homes and the desire of the government to promote building to keep the commercial and industrial life of the country prosperous has caused many, who have not heretofore considered it, to build their homes this year. The homes that will be built
will be of many types of architecture.
Some want and require large houses;
others will build small houses.

The exterior view shows what a fine
little home can be built from this design.
The novel roof and porch treatment make its exterior pleasing to the eye and one that will give the owner
a strong sense of satisfaction. The two rooms are arranged for convenience and comfort and are planned to give the owner a modern, livable home.

The dimensions are 30 by 40 feet,
just right for a lot of 50 feet or more.
The materials used are wood, with
single siding for both house and porch, although faced brick would be exceptionally suitable for the porch, or
for the whole structure.

From the floor plan that accompanies
the perspective, it will be seen that the porch extends two-thirds of the way

with the possession of a home is considered, the responsibility that many people are loath to assume is well paid
for. The home owner is the respected man in his community. He is a fix-ture that every other good citizen looks up to. His credit is good, and can be capitalized when needed. If the time comes when he is compelled for any reason to raise money, he has the finest
security in the world, a piece of improved real estate.

It certainly pays to build a home;
ask anyone who has one. And now is the time to build. While prices are higher than they were before the United States got into the war, they will not be lower for many years to come;
in fact, prices of building materials
have not advanced in proportion to the cost of other necessities, which leads
some experts to the belief that they will be higher.

There will be thousands of new homes erected this year. And by just a few thousands as there are new homes, there will be increased the number of satisfied American citizens.

Made-to-Order Gravel for Ships.

The majority of contractors have to take gravel as they find it, and geologists tell us it was a long time in the making. It seems that it may no longer be necessary to wait for nature to form gravel from clay, but that it may be made when and where wanted and
the method is described in a recent number of Little Journal.

It seems that there was no gravel to be found near the location of a southern shipyard where concrete ships were to be built. Fortunately clays were found to possess the necessary characteristics to enable them to be burned to

across the front and around the side.
The entrance is into a small vestibule
at the end of the porch on the side.
The living room, 21 by 12 feet, extends across the front of the house, and has a fireplace in the end wall. Back of it to the right are the dining room and kitchen, while on the other side are
two bedrooms, with the bathroom opening
off the central hall.
The dining room opens off both the
vestibule and the living room, there being

NOBLES OF MYSTIC
SHRINE TO MEET
AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 2.— Indianapolis next month will become the Mecca of tens of thousands of the most prominent and representative citizens of the United States. From every part of the country, from far away Florida and Texas, from the Pacific Coast and New England at least, the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine
will be gathered for a victory jubilee which will be combined with their annual national convocation.

For nearly a year the local committees of reception and entertainment, composed of the most prominent and active members of the order in this jurisdiction have been preparing for the advent of the mighty hosts that will sojourn in the Hoosier capital during the second week of June.

In the matter of decoration, it might be said that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as Indianapolis
will be when the first befezzed Noble
emerges through the gates of the Union Station. A fund of $100,000 has been raised to defray the expenses of decoration and entertainment. All of the business thoroughfares and many of the residential streets will be aglow with the national colors intertwined with the colors which the Shriners have appropriated as their own. Electrical arches will flash words granting of new temple charters. An-telection of a star of officer, and the lights, will be conspicuous features of the night festivities.

As at previous gatherings of the order, the big spectacular features of the program will be the several parades.
This year the parades will be in the nature of patriotic pageants in celebration of the victorious ending
of welcome to the visitors and huge camels and other insignia of the order, outlined in thousands of electric lights, will be a sight never given
of the war. In addition to the customary parade of the visiting patrols
there will be a street pageant at night
which promises to be one of the most
in this country.

Although sessions of the Imperial Council will be held each day of the conclave there will be comparatively few items will be selection of the little business transacted, as the conclave is essentially a time for festivity and good-fellowship. The business will be confined chiefly to the convention city for 1920, for which honors New Orleans and Portland, Ore., are expected to be the principal
contenders.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine is of oriental origin and very ancient, although not introduced into America
until the early '70s, when the first temple was organized in New York City. Contrary to popular belief, the order is not a regular Masonic body,
it is closely allied with freemasonry,
however, and its membership is composed strictly of Masons who have reached the 32d degree, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, or Knights Templar in good standing. Among the original founders of the order in the United States were General Sickles and William J. Florence, the noted actor. From the first organization
in New York City the order has spread to every part of the country,
with affiliated branches in Canada,
Hawaii, the Philippines and elsewhere. At the present time there are about 150 temples of the order in the United States, with an aggregate
membership of nearly 250,000.

Men's Smart Oxfords

There is a sense of great comfort in wearing a good pair of oxfords, but in knowing that the shoes are fashionably correct there is a sense of extreme satisfaction. Our oxfords combine both comfort and style, for they are built on sensible lasts that give free play to the foot without sacrificing the good looks of the shoe. Medium toes, low, broad heels and welted soles. For quality they compare favorably with shoes sold elsewhere at higher prices.

White Shoes Essential To Complete
Summer Wardrobe

A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a pair
or two of white shoes for they serve many purposes and add immensely to the charm of one's costume.

White buckskin lace shoes with graceful Louis heels
and white sports shoes in high or Oxford styles are fashionable, and those women who prefer cloth to leather will have the choice of a number of styles in high lace models,
with turned soles and Louis heels.

We cannot lay too much stress on the smartness of white footwear for women.

able bounds of cost.

And shoes for such boys as these often give parents
their greatest concern for a boy very often wears out one

UNIQUE METHOD OF TESTING AUTO TIRES

A novel method of testing automobile tires, employed by a Denver manufacturing concern, is shown in the photograph. The truck, one-half mile in circumference, presents every feature of good and bad roads. An ingenious machine, with its long arm to which the tire is attached, propels the tire around the track. A weight equivalent to that of a heavily loaded automobile is suspended over the tire in such a way that the tire itself carries the load. Once started on its journey the tire continues until it has given its maximum of mileage.

FIRE PRINCIPAL DANGER TO AUTO

Owner Should Have Extinguisher Handy and Keep Close Watch on Electrical System.

SWEEP GARAGE FLOOR OFTEN

Gasoline Tank Should Never Be Filled If There Is Open Flame Near—Go Over Connections to Discover Any Leak.

Fire is really the greatest danger with which the motorist has to cope. Not that automobiles are in the habit of catching fire regularly, but the fire, when it does come, is sudden and unprovoked. Furthermore the everyday handling of gasoline makes one careless, a warning in itself that is seldom heeded. There are so many ways in which a car can catch fire that it is the duty of every motorist to see that all possible steps are taken to prevent such accidents. A few suggestions follow that may assist in warding off the danger.

Keep Fire Extinguisher Ready. First of all have a fire extinguisher and keep it ready at all times for use. Many motorists carry them on their cars and thus reduce their insurance rates. This is the best practice, but an extra extinguisher in the garage is never out of place. The small, compact pump type is advised, as it is the best for fighting gasoline or oil fires and can be used safely around electrical apparatus. Some owners have an idea that the solution used in these extinguishers can be used for cleaning purposes, even if practicable, is hardly wise. The extra few drops may mean a lot should the car catch fire on the road.

Do not let oily rags or waste lie around the garage. Keep them in a metal container and sweep the floor often. It prevents the spread of fire. Keep the engine clean, especially the oil pan. See that there is a small hole in it under the carburetor drip. If there is none by all means make one.

Keep Flame From Tank. Never fill the gasoline tank with an open flame near. Likewise see that the funnel used makes metallic contact with the tank. It has happened that static electricity generated by the gasoline flowing through the funnel has sparked the tank and caused a serious explosion. Make sure that the tank does not leak, particularly when the tank is located under the seat. It is well to go over all gas-line connections occasionally to detect any leaks.

Install a gasoline shut-off where it can be readily reached. Some cars have them in an out-of-the-way place that is difficult to reach in an emergency. Always shut off the gasoline when leaving the car in the garage. This is even more important when an open-type coal stove is used for heating the building. A strainer should also be installed in the feed pipe if there is none on the car, and sediment should be removed once a month.

The electrical system should also be watched and the connections kept tight for a loose or grounded wire may start a fire. When cleaning the engine with a brush use one with no metal parts; a short circuit caused by the metal on the brush may ignite the gasoline used in cleaning.

Should a fire start in the carburetor shut off the gasoline and start the engine, as racing it will soon draw all the gasoline from the carburetor. Sand can be thrown at the base of the flame, and when using the extinguisher squirt it through the radiator without raising the hood.

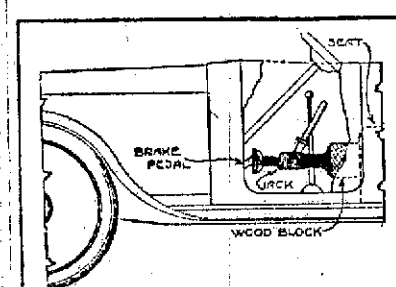

The best suggestion is not the least important—read this again.

Municipal suffrage has been granted to women in eleven of the chartered towns of Florida.

ADJUSTMENT OF FOOT BRAKE

Position Shown in Illustration That Jack Should Have—Work Can Be Done Single-Handed.

To adjust automobile foot brakes single-handed jack up the rear wheels, one side at a time, while setting the band on each wheel; then, with a block against the seat panel and a jack placed in its position to force the pedal down, turn the wheel and the screws on the brake band, adjusting it to the proper tension. Make both brake tensions equal. Take up easily one brake band at a time. By turning the wheel over with the hands the proper brake adjustments are easily made. Count the number of clicks in the jack as it is operated for each wheel, and compare them. The wheel requiring the most clicks on the jack until the wheel cannot be turned by hand must have its brake bands tightened to equalize them.—P. P. Avery, in Popular Science Monthly Magazine.

ENAMELING TO PREVENT RUST

Ordinary Material Which Dries Quickly Is of Little Use, as It Chips Off Rapidly.

In order to do away with rusting of parts beneath the hood black enameling may be resorted to with good effect. It is possible to get black enamel today which when properly applied looks little inferior to the baked-on variety. Ordinary enamels which dry quickly are of little use, as they chip and flake off quickly. Parts to be enameled should, if possible, be taken off and cleaned with a stiff wire brush. The enamel should be applied with a stiff varnish brush. The enamel may take as long as a week to dry and care must be used to have an atmosphere free from excessive dust; that means not to dry it in the upper story of a hay barn. Parts that may be enameled to advantage include steel fan blades, pulley arms, brackets and elbows, nuts that are not often disturbed, exposed pieces of shifting, pinion-wheel covers, operating rods, collars, etc. Even a cylinder casting may be so treated, as a good enamel will stand heat without blistering.

FITTING A NEW CARBURETOR

Care Should Be Taken That There Is No Looseness to Cause Vibration and Broken Flange.

In fitting a new carburetor be sure that there is no looseness to cause vibration, because if there is a broken flange will be the inevitable result. If vibration is present a small iron bracket should be installed from a nut on the engine frame to the instrument to steady it, also taking the strain off the intake pipe.

SMALL BRUSH IS HANDY TOOL

Easy to Get at Spring Leaves and Other Inaccessible Parts of Automobile.

A small brush, say five inches long, with stiff bristles, may be made into an exceedingly useful tool by screwing it on the end of a handle perhaps a foot and a half long. With this brush it is easy to clean off spring leaves and to get at other parts that are located in inaccessible positions.

HARD TO STOP WAR ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, June 2.—United Press—America is finding it almost as difficult to stop her war preparation as it was to start it.

The War Department at present is accepting huge quantities of war material. Though most of it will not be needed in the near future, unless someone starts a new war, the army has found it cheaper to finish much of the work already begun when the armistice was signed to abandon it.

Some of the items accepted since the armistice are: 976 75-millimeter guns (the famous French 75) with 5,567,000 rounds of high explosive and 2,751,000 rounds of shrapnel for them—804 6-ton tanks (light Whippet type); 247 155-millimeter guns with 414,000 high explosive shells for them; 41,000 Browning automatic rifles; 30,000 Browning machine guns; 113,000,000 pounds of smokeless powder; 2,417 5-ton tractors for hauling heavy artillery; 124,000,000 pistol and 570,000,000 rifle cartridges; 656,000 tin hats; 56 8-inch howitzers; 347,000 model 1917 rifles (modified Enfields); 115,000 automatic pistols; 12,000,000 pounds of TNT and 25,000,000 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

In the case of tanks and 75-millimeter guns, over 90 per cent. of the total production was completed after the armistice. The largest percentage of any Ordnance item to be delivered after the armistice was in the case of 155-millimeter recoil apparatus. Of these, 850 of a total of 881 were delivered after Nov. 11.

All the items mentioned, or which a considerable proportion represent, after-the-war delivery, required long preparation before manufacture could be begun. Besides constituting a valuable reserve for another war, the War Department pointed out, the material would be a total waste if it were not finished.

The War Department has terminated by cancellation since November 9 all but $350,000,000 worth of contracts originally totaling $5,650,000,000. Ordnance material represents the largest single part of the remaining contracts—$138,975,000.

Keep Uric Acid Out of Joints

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a table-spoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Some Common Poultry Diseases and Treatment—Use Potassium Permanganate for Colds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

All diseased birds should be isolated. Colds and Roup.—Disinfect the drinking water as follows: To each gallon of water add the quantity of potassium permanganate that will remain on the surface of a dime.

Canker.—Sprinkle a little flowers of sulphur in the mouth and throat of the bird and put some chlorate of potash in the water. Also carefully remove the exudate with the aid of warm water.

A Case of Scaly Legs.

ter and paint with iodine or apply a good disinfectant to the diseased tissue.

Chicken Pox.—Apply a touch of iodine to each sore and then cover with carbolated vaseline. If the diseased parts are kept well covered with the vaseline it will usually effect a cure.

Gapes.—New ground and vigorous cultivation will often remedy this trouble. A liberal sprinkling of lime around the coops and runs is quite often an effective remedy.

Scaly Legs.—Apply vaseline containing a disinfectant to the affected parts, and after 24 hours soak in warm soapy water. Repeat treatment until cured.

Diarrhea in Hens.—Low-grade wheat flour or middlings are good for this trouble. Also give each fowl a teaspoonful of castor oil containing five drops of oil of peppermint.

Bowel Trouble in Chicks.—Well-bolled rice mixed with a little charcoal will settle the chick's complaint. Dissolve 12 grains of cupric acetate in each gallon of drinking water.

MORE POULTRY IS REQUIRED

Standard-Bred Fowls Increase Production and Improve Quality—Hatch Chicks Early.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Keep better poultry: Standard-bred poultry increases production and improves the quality.

Select vigorous breeders: Healthy, vigorous breeders produce strong chicks.

Hatch the chicks early: Early hatched pullets produce fall and winter eggs.

Preserve eggs for home use: Preserve when cheap for use when high in price.

Produce infertile eggs: They keep better. Fertile eggs are necessary for hatching only.

Cull the flocks: Eliminate unprofitable producers and reduce the feed bill.

Keep a back-yard flock: A small flock in the back yard will supply the family table.

Grow your poultry feed: Home-grown feed insures an available and economical supply.

Eat more poultry and eggs: By eating poultry and eggs more freely you will conserve the meat supply.

WHEAT FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Better Food Than Corn in Ration for Laying Hens—Barley Is Good Substitute.

Wheat is a better food for egg production than is corn. A grain ration of wheat, oats and corn is conducive to the manufacture of eggs. Barley may be profitably substituted for the wheat during those days of wheat conservation.

HOPPER IS BIG LABOR SAVER

Satisfactory Growth Secured by Giving Fowls Access to Balanced Ration of Grain.

A hopper capable of holding a large quantity of feed is a great labor saver. By allowing the birds access to its contents a satisfactory growth is obtained, and an opportunity is given them to balance the grain ration fed. This hopper should be large enough to hold several baskets of feed, sufficient for one or two weeks.

LAYMAN MODERATOR FOR PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The 131st General Assembly of the Presbyterian church held in St. Louis from May 15 to May 24 will stand out as one of the most important General Assemblies in the history of the church.

It is unique in the first place because for the first time it elected a layman as Moderator. This was the first year in which a layman was eligible to this office. It was generally agreed that in the election of John Willis Baer the Presbyterians had chosen as their Moderator the most popular layman in their ranks.

In the second place the General Assembly paved the way for co-operation in the Interchurch World Movement of North America. It adopted a plan approving the principle of the Interchurch Movement and named conditions upon which it would cooperate. It then gave to the Executive Commission plenary power to bring about such co-operation in due manner and time. The General Assembly rejected a proposition to delay action on the Interchurch matter for one year because it felt that the delay would be evasive, inasmuch as the Presbyterian church thought the General Assembly of 1918 had taken the initiative toward organic union of all evangelical churches. It was felt that Presbyterians could not now fail to meet the Interchurch proposition promptly and decisively.

The New Era Movement received the greatest ovation given by the Assembly. Doctor William Hiram Faulkes, general secretary of the Movement was received with very great enthusiasm when in the report he showed the success of the Movement despite the limited time and the many obstacles with which it had to contend during this first experimental year. General Assembly authorized the Movement to proceed on a full five year basis dating from May 1919.

In the great expansive program to which the church has set itself that of the general board of education stood out conspicuously. It involves the raising of $35,000,000 within five years for the Presbyterian colleges.

Of this amount $5,000,000 a year is to be raised by the colleges themselves and $2,000,000 is to be raised in the New Era budget. Doctor Edgar O. Hill, secretary of the board was most heartily supported in the statement that the crying need of the time was Christian leadership and that the Christian colleges must very largely supply this need.

It is worth while noting that the Assembly took definite action toward a constructive policy in the interests of capital and labor. Throughout the deliberations there ran a determined note for the church to take a position of leadership in helping to bring about amicable and constructive relations in the great industrial world. This culminated in the adoption of a strong resolution committing the church to such a policy.

Simultaneously with the general assembly the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and Telegraphers was holding its annual convention in St. Louis and the general assembly sent a fraternal greeting to this body. Personal greetings were exchanged with the Episcopal convention meeting in the city. A letter was sent to the Southern Presbyterian assembly again regarding organic union and the assembly returned a proposal for closer federal union.

Miss Annie Gale, the first woman in Canada to be elected a city alderman has now been chosen mayor of Calgary for the next three months.

*THE bathing maid or matron trusts
her dressmaker and beach togs
are stunning this summer.*

ALL PUFFED AND RUFFLED

BY MARGARET RHIOE
(Written for The United Press)

Maud's bathing togs so stunning are. They simply make folks rave. She always looks a perfect dream. When she goes out to bathe. But that's because Maud never yet has let her costume chic get wet. She takes great care. That just her hair. Alone in a wave.

NEW YORK, May 30—Even a Paul Swan or a Ted Shawn aren't anything to be mad about in a bathing suit and yet the male sex taken in toto and in part attire seems to just dote upon it. Portly diplomats love to be snapped before and after taking a dip and elderly heads of corporations fall all over themselves and every one else to get their corporations in the groups pictured on society sands for the Sunday supplements.

With the laving ladies it is a different matter. A woman doesn't have to be an Annette Kellerman to look well in a bathing suit, provided of course that she doesn't insist on wearing an Annette Kellerman costume. If the costume be pretty, it little matters if the maid be plain, if she has wisely chosen one adapted to her figure or her lack of it. That's the whole secret in a seashell. Egotistic man, supremely confident of his own natural charms, casts off his tailor completely and be a perfect 36 or an imperfect 60 aged 21 or 61, he does the self-same bathing model. Whereas wise woman fastens her faith as always to her dressmaker and fastens her bathing suit with the knowledge that she is a charming figure on the sands of these times.

To taffeta or jersey cling the smartest mermaids this season, or rather the taffeta and jersey clings to them in the shape of cunning little flounced and puffed and ruffled bathing suits, if they be taffeta, and straight-hung one piece affairs if they be of other stuff.

A stunning marine blue taffeta model whose abbreviated skirt is just one scalloped ruffle after another, each scalloped piped in vivid green, has a surprise waist, scalloped edged, and just an outlying of the scallops around the arm holes. A brim, green edged, tops off the deep sea picture. Like a hula hula maid, will be the bather who affects the jersey suit of Copenhagen blue; its straight lines bound by deep organic fringe around the skirt, arm pits and oval neck.

An amicable agreement between the Chinese and Japanese is evidenced by the Chinese blue bathing suit, cut after the long trousered and hip length coated fashion of a Chinese girl's usual apparel. A touch of black and scarlet embroidery finishes the sleeves edges the coat and high close-buttoned collar and frogs of back and scarlet fasten the coat. A dashing scarlet and black Japanese parasol and a perky little blue and black cap splashed with a scarlet tassel completes this novelty in bathing attire.

As always the black taffeta or black and white costumes are dear favorites and this year they are brought up to date with vivid touches here and there of yarn embroidery or fringe.

Large figured foulards in blue and white, black and white or more hectic colorings strike the newest notes in this season's bathing modes. Indeed they strike so loud a note that the deep sea fish will have to learn to swim over their ears.

The stunning cape mantles, to be cast aside only at the water's edge,

PRICE OF MINING IN 1899
Twenty years ago yesterday, the bituminous coal miners of this region were given a voluntary advance by the operators which made the price paid for pick mining 50 cents per ton and 25 cents per ton for machine mining.

are usually of the one-toned material, whose surface is broken by applied or embroidered helioglyphics in the form of cryptic monograms and always the linings are most vividly ornate. Fringe now sprouts effectively on some of the bathing mantles, as on everything else.

Cute little silken bags, rubber-lined and monogrammed to match the cape, and the bathing suit, are outfitted with mirrors and necessary adjuncts to the deep sea complexion which needs first aid and ready relief when waves have been too ruthless.

All equipped with mantle, cap, bag and parasol you can readily see that nowadays one does more for a bath, than a ball.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

An automobile which contained three or four persons "turned turtle" near the Hile store Saturday night, turning the corner too sharply, is said to have been the cause of the accident. None of those who were in the car received any injury.

The score of the ball game played between Curwensville and State College H. S. resulted in a victory for the home team, by a score of 17 to 9.

An outdoor cake walk was held at Athletic Park Saturday evening. The proceeds were for the benefit of the Curwensville team. A large crowd was present and everybody went away satisfied with their entertainment.

at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13.

Where most orchestras or bands are
content with one trombone or possibly two, this one has one hundred
of the slip instruments—and nothing
else! Impossible? Eminent musicians have pronounced it entirely successful after hearing rehearsals for
the big exposition.

Obsolete musical instruments had
to be revived to balance the choir
when the Centenary Celebration
management decided to have such an
organization for the big Methodist
gathering. The very small trombone
held by the second woman player in
the front row, as shown in the picture, is the soprano trombone which
had not been used for one hundred
years. It had to be manufactured
especially for this choir, as did the

big F bass trombone, a majestic affair. The alto trombones also represent little known instruments.

These revivals of long forgotten
types of trombones were necessitated
by the make-up of the Centenary Celebration Trombone Choir which
contains the following instruments:

Twelve sopranos, eighteen alto,
forty tenors, eighteen baritones and
twelve basses.

These one hundred trombones are
arranged to form six separate
choirs, each a musical unit in itself.

At the extreme right of each bank
or choir are two soprano trombones,
no larger than cornets. Next come
three altos, then two first tenors, two second tenors. In the center of each row are the first and fourth tenors.

Next come the first, second and third
baritones, each with a part of its own, then the big F flat bass and on
the end of each choir the F bass
trombone.

Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley, the

internationally recognized composer
of "Pilgrim's Progress" and the New England Symphony, who composed
the choir of musical composition in
the Western College for Women,
has signified his approval of this admirable musical unit by preparing several
compositions for it, as well as ar-
ranging an all-trombone orchestra
of his version of "America."

The trombone choir is only one
feature of the Centenary Celebra-
tion's musical program which includes a $50,000 pipe organ especially constructed for the exposition, a Zulu band of African natives, and a
pageant orchestra of seventy-five
pieces to furnish the incidental
music of the pageant "The Way-
farer," which has an off-stage chorus of 1,000 voices. All preparations
indicate a plenitude and diversity
of music at the Centenary Celebration.

DR. G. W. EMIGH PASSES AWAY

The Community was shocked Saturday morning on learning of the death of Dr. Emigh one of the town's best known physicians. He had been seriously ill for only two weeks, and during part of that time he was able to give some attention to his patients. Many of his intimate friends were wholly unaware of his illness. Gargery of the foot caused his death, which occurred at his residence corner of Third and Laurel streets at 2:15 this morning. He suffered from an attack of the disease about seven years ago, but recovered after taking treatment in a city hospital.

George Washington Emigh was born at the old Emigh homestead, near Morrisdale on March 10, 1856. His parents were Jonathan and Elizabeth Mary (Evans) Emigh. In 1884 he graduated from the New York Medical College, and began the practice of medicine at Woodland. He was stationed there for eight years and in 1893 completed a postgraduate course at the New York College. It was then that he came to Philipsburg, and has resided here and successfully practiced medicine here since that date.

Besides his wife, who was Miss Ella Howe, a teacher in the Philipsburg public schools at the time of her marriage to Dr. Emigh, in October, 1884, he is survived by two brothers and one sister, namely: Jonathan Emigh, of Morrisdale, Frank Emigh, Clymer, Indiana county and Florence, wife of Thomas Rounds, of Morrisdale. One child was born to the couple, Walton whose tragic death in his early boyhood was a grievous blow to the father.

Dr. Emigh was greatly liked by the townspeople and by all who knew him. He was kind and sympathetic and was most happy when he felt that his ministrations were giving relief to suffering humanity. His death has occasioned the deepest regret.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church, but because there is no Presbyterian minister here now, Rev. Franklin T. Eastment, of St. Paul's Episcopal church will have charge of the funeral service, which will be held at the residence on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service will be private to all but relatives and near friends, and it has been requested that flowers be omitted. Burial will be made in the local cemetery.—Philipsburg Daily Journal.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1—With the distinction of having been one of the few regiments to remain in the Meuse-Argonne offensive from the day it began until the offensive ended—a total of 48 days—the Three Hundred Fifth Ammunition Train, of the Eighteenth Division, debarked at Snyder avenue pier today from the steamship Canandaigua. Of the 1,372 men aboard, 80 were Philadelphians. The Shoshone and the Gen. Gorgas also arrived.

Aboard the Canandaigua were 50 men with wound chevrons. Six men of the trains were killed in line of duty.

With the arrival of the ships tomorrow, practically the entire Eighteenth Division will have reached port. Several other ships, including the battleship New Jersey and the transport Kanana, are enroute here with members of the division, but with the exception of the Kanana, due Thursday, none is carrying large numbers of men from the Philadelphia district.

These troops will be mustered out at Camp Dix.

W. O. Hoover in a telephone conversation with his wife in Clearfield stated that he had visited with the 305th boys following their arrival in Philly. Had talked with Glasgow, Troch, Roy Fullington, Ray Shaw, Bill Cook, Pete Shade and found the boys all in the very best of shape and dead nervous to hit old Clearfield again.

GEORGE S. MILLER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

George Smith Miller, only son of W. C. Miller, Esq., died at his home in Philadelphia at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning after a brief illness from pneumonia followed by pneumonia. News of his serious illness was received by the young man's father on Wednesday last and that evening, accompanied by his daughter Julia, Mr. Miller left for his son's bedside and was with him when the final summons came.

George Smith Miller was born in Clearfield twenty-seven years ago. He got his education in the Clearfield schools and later took up electrical engineering at State College. He went to the front in his profession, and for several years held a very responsible position with the Miller Engineering and Construction company in Philadelphia. He was climbing life's ladder quite successfully and his death just as the future with its great promise was opening before him was a sad shock to his host of warm friends and a heart-crushing blow to his loved ones.

He leaves a widow and one child and is also survived by his father and two sisters, Julia, of Clearfield, and Mrs. William Van Allen, of Northumberland, Pa.

The remains will be brought to Clearfield on the 6:45 train Tuesday evening and the funeral will be held from the Miller home on West Front street Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Hillcrest cemetery.

MAY REPAINT THOSE ANCIENT CARS

We are informed by "grapevine groundless" over our exclusive system that the Traveler's Insurance Company is arranging to establish a bus line between Clearfield and Tyrone for the purpose of transporting their policy holders over the mountains between the two points.

The Traveler's, like Steve Brice, are willing to take a chance, but those ancient fencible passenger cars on the Pennsylvania are regarded as beyond the pale.

Hon. Joseph E. Phillips, is arranging to introduce a bill in Pennsylvania legislature providing for the repainting of these old wooden cars. At present they are all of different and varying shades and degrees of color, in fact, they appear to have been spotted out by a real camouflage artist. The Hon. Joe refused to admit that they call it the "Pennsylvania legislature" because the Penna. Railroad owns it, but a whole lot of people think there is more truth than poetry in the claim.

Sheriff Gorman loaded five Clearfield county young men in his automobile Thursday morning last, and transported them across the mountains to Huntingdon Reformatory, where they will remain as the guests of Clearfield county until legally discharged.

WILL NOT MODIFY TREATY BIG FOUR TELLS GERMANS

PARIS, June 1—In reply to the counter proposals by the German delegates, the Big Four will inform Count Brockdorff-Rantzau that no ground has been found for any further modifications of the original terms. The delegates will be given one week in which to sign the treaty. At the expiration of that period, if the Germans refuse to sign, the allied armies will move forward to the objectives assigned to them in the heart of Germany and the food blockade will be rigidly enforced.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, June 2—The fact that the German counter proposals practically constitute a new treaty lead to the belief today that the Allies' reply will not be completed before the first of next week. Big Four experts have been commissioned to study every point voiced by the Germans with a view to singling out any worth while suggestion.

HUNGARIAN ADMIRAL REPORTED ASSASSINATED

ZURICH, June 2—A Budapest dispatch today reported that Admiral von Horthy, former commander of the Austro-Hungarian fleet, has been assassinated by the Red Guard.

NO TELEGRAPH STRIKE ORDERED

WASHINGTON, June 2—Arriving in Washington from Montreal this morning, President S. J. Korontamp of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America silenced all talk of a nation wide walk out of wire workers today as a result of the discharge of 100 Atlanta telephone workers. "The Atlanta affair is a local one," said Korontamp. "While we will call out all the wire workers in that city if the girls are not reinstated today and while the situation may be a preliminary of the big strike pending, a date for the big strike has not yet been set."

PROCLAMATION OF THE BURGESS

Clearfield people generally seem to have sight of the fact that the Burgesses forbid the throwing of ashes, open clippings and rubbish of any kind upon the streets and alleys of the borough, and in accordance with this lapse, the street cleaners are given a lot of additional work, while the appearance of the town suffers greatly therefrom.

Therefore, all persons are once more notified to desist from this practice.

Hereafter in every case reported to the Burgess, where citizens have thrown ashes, open clippings, scrapings or other rubbish on public streets or alleys of the borough, prosecution will be brought and the offender made to pay the penalty prescribed by the Ordinance.

The Highway Department is making an effort to put the dirt streets in proper shape, and this rubbish not only looks unsightly, but being loose washes into the inlet and clogs same with the first dash of rain, thereby causing overflow and damage to property.

Citizens generally will please obey this proclamation and thus avoid the unpleasantness of an arrest for violation of the ordinance.

JOHN M. CHASE, Burgess.

Clearfield Pa., May 27, 1919.

Any effort to secure the increased bounty on either a wild cat or a weasel as provided for by the Act through the presentation of the skin of an animal killed before June 1st, 1919, is punishable by fine and imprisonment, and a full allowance in this respect is made.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH H. ALPERT,

The General Assembly of Pennsylvania for 1919 entered upon the month of June and its twentieth week today with a date for final adjournment not yet agreed upon by the two houses and the appropriation bills yet to be reported out. This will be the third session of this decade to extend into June, those of 1913 and 1917 having gone until the last week of the month. Other sessions which lasted until June were 1879, 1881, 1883, 1885, 1887, 1895 and 1901, all being closed early in the month, except the latter which was prolonged until June 27. The session of 1897, the year when the session was interrupted by the burning of the old Capitol adjourned July 1, the only July session since 1812, when the session lasted from January 4 to July 27.

The calendars of both houses for the coming week are large and the Senate contains a number of important bills such as changes in the compensation code, the State police department reorganization, increase of salary for members of the Legislature, effective in 1921, and constitutional amendments. There are eleven bills on the postponed calendars, the largest number in a long period of time. Twenty-nine of these are on the final passage stage, and a meeting of the Rules committee to discuss the situation will be held during the week. There are forty-four bills on the third reading calendar for Monday night in addition to thirty-one on second reading.

EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS NEEDED TO MEET CENTENARY CAMPAIGN QUOTA

BALTIMORE, MD., May 31.—The Methodist Centenary Fund, based upon estimates from all parts of the United States, has received a total of $97,264,000. It was announced today by Rev. M. M. Swartz, executive secretary of the Centenary, with headquarters here.

The entire country is about $8,000,000 behind in raising its quotas for prosecution of the Centenary program, which contemplates social, educational and evangelistic improvements upon a huge scale. The task of raising the full amount is viewed by Centenary officials with confidence. However, in view of the fact that Methodist churches have until June 15, before subscriptions are closed.

This Area, including four big conferences, covering Central Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia, lacks practically $1,000,000 to meet the area allotment. Campaigns which were delayed for a variety of causes in different localities now are in progress to get the area "over the top" before the final returns are tabulated.

District superintendents, termed the "men behind the guns," together with their campaign workers, throughout the campaign have aimed for big over-subscriptions. In some of the districts reports of superintendents showed the quotas have been far exceeded. In others there is now going forward intensive canvasses among memberships to insure places for every church upon the Centenary honor roll.

Executive Secretary Swartz made public figures showing the standing of the twenty Episcopal Areas into which the country is divided. This table revealed that Washington Area stands fourth in the list, with every prospect that it will go higher when delinquent reports are counted. Subscriptions in the twenty Areas through the United States, were announced as follows:

Boston	$4,200,000
Buffalo	8,262,000
Chicago	9,894,000
Cincinnati	14,097,000

VISITED OLD HOME FOLKS

Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve returned Saturday last from a three weeks' trip to the Middle West. Dr. Reeve represented Huntington Presbytery at the Presbyterian Convention in St. Louis, and later visited his old home in Iowa. He says that the farming section of the middle west is a land teeming with milk and honey and all the farmers are piling up big bank accounts.

CLASS HATREDS THAT THROW PEOPLE INTO DISCORD MUST BE OVERCOME BY MAKING CHRISTIANITY WORLD WIDE

Chaplain Tiplady, Famous British Field Officer in France, Says Christian Forces Must Unite To Extend Gospel.

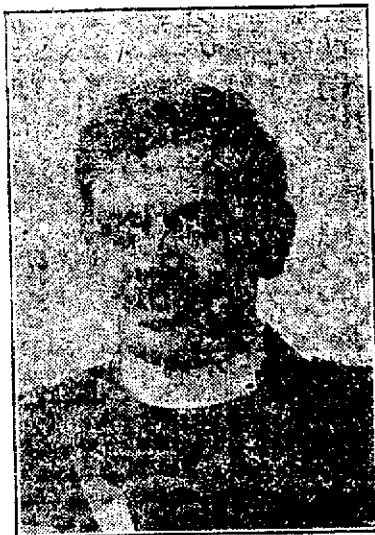

"Must Unite To Make Democracy We Won Safe For Entire World," Tiplady Assorted.

"The war will not be completely won until the enthusiasm and moral energy which were down the Hun is applied to industry and Government, to man's social and spiritual relations, to the whole body of present-day problems, summed up in the one word—reconstruction."

Chaplain Thomas Tiplady, with the British forces in France, and now on a tour in the interests of the Methodist Centenary campaign, made this statement in a speech that thrilled his hearers, at a complimentary luncheon in Baltimore. Tiplady gave a warm tribute to the American soldier.

"We won in France and saved the world for humanity," Tiplady said. "But Americans and those of other lands, enlisted under the banners of Christianity, must now unite in a gigantic program to make the democracy for which we fought and won, safe for the entire world. Evils that would destroy these principles, class hatreds that tend to throw people and nations into discord, must be overcome by the extension to all parts of the earth of the principles of the brotherhood of man."

"The American soldier is one of the greatest fighters I ever saw," Tiplady said. "It was inspiring to see veterans who had gone through many bitter struggles in the Somme and other areas, when we saw the steady stream of chaps coming over from new blood and energy in the Allied fighting calbre. Just at a time when it was a case of life or death to check the unarmist of the German borders. Through many campaigns Americans were side by side with us, battling for the cause that was sure to triumph. Tiplady has a vision of the new era."

Chaplain Thomas Tiplady

as seen through the eyes of the man in the furnace of war.

Tiplady first won fame by remarkable uplift work in London.

His miraculous escapes from death provide a story that sounds like fiction. Tiplady believes that he has a message for the world.

"After the battle of Arras in 1917," he said, "I decided to stop sleeping in a dugout and risk a tent, six by five feet square, pitched in the open. While fast asleep one night a great shrapnel shell came from a German Howitzer eleven miles away and burst over head. Apparently it was a clean hit. Eleven bullets went through the tent shelter top. The ground around the tent was swept by ragged fragments of the projectile. A box of books at my head was shattered, but I was not touched. At daybreak I found six of the eleven bullets." The fighting chaplain exhibited a couple of the bullets which he carries around along with other interesting souvenirs.

While stationed at the British base of Abbeville, toward which the Hun aimed their spring offensive a year ago, Tiplady stated he went through German air raids night after night, without suffering bodily harm. Tiplady said during these raids he slept flat upon the ground rolled in an army blanket.

BISHOP McDOWELL IN STIRRING APPEAL CALLS UPON METHODISTS TO RESPOND TO CALL FOR RELIEF IN WORLD CRISIS

"We Want To Please And Help Our Master," Says The Presiding Bishop, in Fervent Appeal.

Methodist Ministers Will Make Bishop's Message Basis Of Special Centenary Sermons.

Bishop William F. McDowell, of Washington, D. C., presiding over the Washington Area comprising Central Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, and West Virginia, has issued a stirring call to the 300,000 members in his jurisdiction to put their shoulders to the wheel and push the Centenary Drive for millions through to its goal.

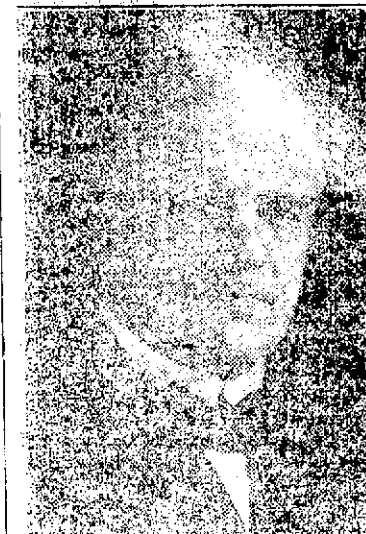

A ten-day tour of the Area just completed brought convincing evidence to Bishop McDowell that the churches are a unit behind the Centenary program. Bishop McDowell accompanied a "Flying Squadron" of campaigners, who touched important cities throughout the Area perfecting financial "Set-ups" in every district preliminary to the intensive drive.

Clergymen and lay leaders were brought together at big conferences held at Frederick, Md., Cumberland, Md., Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., Lock Haven, Pa., Harrisburg, Pa., Clearfield, Pa., Dover, Del., Williamsport, Pa., Sunbury, Pa., Salisbury, Md., Harrisburg, Va. and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Bishop McDowell's eloquent message which bears the caption, "Now Let Us Carry On," will be made the basis for special Centenary sermons throughout the Area by pastors.

It reads as follows:

"We now approach the last phase of the Centenary Campaign, the last for which the first was planned. We have surveyed, planned, organized, spoken, written, prayed about it for months. Nothing in our previous history has so absorbed and thrilled us. No other enterprise has ever brought us so near the world's need on our hand and the world's Redeemer on our heart. We have seen visions and dreamed dreams. Cloven tongues like fire have fallen upon our heads, and we are now in the presence of the living God."

Bishop William F. McDowell

Heads of contributions as they have sat again in the modern upper room. We know what we ought to do in Europe, Asia, Africa, North America, and South America. We know our face, their line, to stand. We know what we want to do. We want to please and help our Master. We want to lift the world. We want to put our hands upon the wheel and want to push our way through to the goal. In Abbeville, France, I saw a sign that said: 'The world is waiting for you.' We are now in the presence of the living God."

DUBOIS LOVER SURE IN TOUGH LUCK

Joseph York, one of Sheriff Gorman's unwilling guests, has decided that the fellow who first made the sage observation that this life is just one darn thing after another knew exactly what he was talking about.

Listen to the log of Joseph's sorrows. York is of Italian extraction but is rapidly becoming Americanized. He lived over at DuBois and becoming enamored of Mrs. Dick Bowser's 15-year-old adopted daughter paid assiduous court to the young lady. Mrs. Dick looked not with favor upon the proposed Italo-American alliance and swearing out a warrant for York on a statutory charge had him landed behind the bars at Fort Gorman on May 10th. On May 19th a friend put up the necessary $500 security and the lover was admitted to bail.

When he secured his liberty, his counsel, it is said, advised an early marriage to straighten out all possible difficulties and securing the lady of his choice the happy couple left DuBois surreptitiously and were made man and wife by an accommodating New York State official empowered under the law to pull off such stunts.

The wedding occurred May 26th, and on the 26th a letter postmarked Glen Richey was received by the Mrs. Bowser and she came at once to the county seat, enlisted the aid of Sheriff Gorman and proceeded to the peaceful village of Glen Richey to find the man who eloped with her daughter.

Mrs. Dick is a large, firm, outspoken lady of the swashbuckling style of architecture and demeanor and cut some figure as she resolutely stomped through the hall of the temple of justice, with a wide-brimmed picture hat surmounting her ample form and a businesslike appearing "six-gun" protruding menacingly from her belt.

The trip to Glen Richey was made in style but the missing pair were not located, as the letter of notification had been planted with a friend and mailed to "numma" at the psychological moment.

Mrs. Bowser made all kinds of threats against her new son-in-law, and when the happy couple finally arrived at the parental mansion in DuBois on Wednesday, the 28th, and asked for forgiveness and the customary blessing you should have heard the reception they got. The upshot of the matter was that poor York was again arrested and on the 29th again took up his residence with Sheriff Gorman while his bride of less than a week weeps desolately without the jail door.

Thus far Mother Bowser has refused to listen to any of all reasons and the honeymoon has just simply gone to smash.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

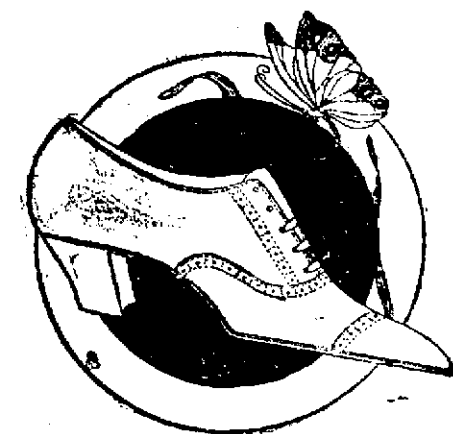

If Mixed With Sulphur Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grand-mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the trouble some folk of gathering the sage and the sulfur mixing at home. Our drug stores sell the ready-made product improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time by drawing the gray hair out. It then appears, but what delicate the hair with Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound. It makes the hair beautiful, making the hair after a few applications it also renders that soft and appealing appearance of youth which is so attractive.

BUNGALOW MAKES DESIRABLE HOME

Five-Room Design Has Many Appealing Attractions.

IDEAL FOR SMALL FAMILY

Exterior of Design Here Shown Is Pleasing to the Eye—Rooms Are Arranged for Convenience and Comfort.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

There is a longing for a home deeply rooted in the mind of every man, woman and child. Oftentimes the individual does not realize that he has this longing. But it is there and is brought to the surface in many ways. It may be the desire for a garden; for a breathing space all his own, or it may be the realization that the children need a place to play.

But what appeals to the thrifty citizen is the fact that it is economical to own a home. Money does not come is at the rear corner. How well the fixtures are arranged in the kitchen, so as to make the work easy, is shown on the floor plan.

Off one corner of the dining room is a hall, at the end of which is the bathroom. Both bedrooms, 13 by 11 feet, also open off this hall. Plenty of closet room is provided, there being one in the vestibule, one in each bedroom and one in the hall.

Under the whole of the house is the basement, which is reached by stairs opening off the kitchen. The fine for the heating plant is at the front, so that the portion of the basement may be partitioned off, to keep the heat and the dirt from the fuel away from the vegetables and other storage rooms.

From this brief description and from the exterior view and the floor plan, it may be seen that this is an exceptional bungalow design. However, it always is well to consult an architect before building. In comparison to the advice he can give the prospective builder, his fee is small. It is easy to make costly mistakes in building, and with a reputable architect these will be avoided. The cost of this bungalow can be ascertained from him, or the local contractor or material dealer, there being no fixed price on labor and materials that will apply to all parts of the country.

Buying a home is not a hard matter. In almost every community bankers, real estate men and local chambers of commerce have devised, or are now devising, plans that will enable any reputable man of family to build his home this year. After the house is erected, the cost can be paid as rent, covering a period of years. In this way every man can own his home.

When the satisfaction that comes easily. Consequently its full buying power should be realized. Many believe that renting a home is cheaper than buying one. It is worse so there would be no investors in rentable property. Every renter can rest assured that when he pays rent he is not only paying for the house he lives in, but a profit besides. Just now, with fewer homes than there are families to live in them, the profit is what might be called "handsome." The property owner, like most other business men, has something that is in demand and he gets all the profit he can. It is economy to be your own landlord.

The need for homes and the desire of the government to promote building to keep the commercial and industrial life of the country prosperous has caused many, who have not heretofore considered it, to build their homes this year. The homes that will be built will be of many types of architecture. Some want and require large houses; others will build small houses.

The exterior view shows what a fine little home can be built from this design. The novel roof and porch treatment make its exterior pleasing to the eye and one that will give the owner a strong sense of satisfaction. The two rooms are arranged for convenience and comfort and are planned to give the owner a modern, livable home.

The dimensions are 30 by 40 feet, just right for a lot of 50 feet or more. The materials used are wood, with shingle siding for both house and porch, although faced brick would be exceptionally suitable for the porch, or for the whole structure.

From the floor plan that accompanies the perspective, it will be seen that the porch extends two-thirds of the way with the possession of a home is considered, the responsibility that many people are loath to assume is well paid for. The home owner is the respected man in his community. He is a fixture that every other good citizen looks up to. His credit is good, and can be capitalized when needed. If the time comes when he is compelled for any reason to raise money, he has the finest security in the world, a piece of improved real estate.

It certainly pays to build a home; ask anyone who has one. And now is the time to build. While prices are higher than they were before the United States got into the war, they will not be lower for many years to come; in fact, prices of building materials have not advanced in proportion to the cost of other necessities, which leads some experts to the belief that they will be higher.

There will be thousands of new homes erected this year. And by just a few more thousands as there are new homes, there will be increased the number of satisfied American citizens.

Made-to-Order Gravel for Ships.

The majority of contractors have to take gravel as they find it, and geologists tell us it was a long time in the making. It seems that it may no longer be necessary to wait for nature to form gravel from clay, but that it may be made when and where wanted and the method is described in a recent number of Little Journal.

It seems that there was no gravel to be found near the location of a southern shipyard where concrete ships were to be built. Fortunately clays were found to possess the necessary characteristics to enable them to be burned to hard, though porous, lumps, and a second series of experiments showed that when the rate and temperature of burning was controlled it was possible to produce lumps of the desired size.

Something of a "Moose."

"One of the London Scottish," says Fullerton L. Waldo in "America at the Front," published by E. P. Dutton & Co., "was amazed when a boy from Maine showed him a picture of the antlered monarch of the Maine woods and told him it was a moose." "A moose man? A moose? In the devil's name, hoo big air der rair?"

No fewer than half a dozen of the prominent London ladies are now under the active management and control of women.

Miss Marie McNulty, of Ottawa, has the distinction of being the only woman practicing law in the Dominion capital.

NOBLES OF MYSTIC SHRINE TO MEET AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 2.—Indianapolis next month will become the Mecca of tens of thousands of the most prominent and representative citizens of the United States. From every part of the country, from far away Florida and Texas, from the Pacific Coast and New England, and from all the commonwealths between the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are to gather for a victory jubilee which will be combined with their annual national convocation.

For nearly a year the local committees of reception and entertainment, composed of the most prominent and active members of the order in this jurisdiction, have been preparing for the advent of the mighty hosts that will sojourn in the Hoosier capital during the second week of June.

In the matter of decoration, it might be said that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as Indianapolis will be when the first befezzed Noble emerges through the gates of the Union Station. A fund of $100,000 has been raised to defray the expenses of decoration and entertainment. All of the business thoroughfares and many of the residential streets will be aglow with the national colors intertwined with the colors which the Shriners have appropriated as their own. Electrical arches will flash words granting of new temple charters. Anticipation of a fair of officers, and the lights, will be conspicuous features of the night festivities.

As at previous gatherings of the order, the big spectacular features of the program will be the several parades. This year the parades will be in the nature of patriotic pageants in celebration of the victorious ending of welcome to the visitors and huge camels and other insignia of the order, outlined in thousands of electric gorgeous affairs of its kind ever given of the war. In addition to the customary parade of the visiting patrols there will be a street pageant at night which promises to be one of the most in this country.

Although sessions of the Imperial Council will be held each day of the convocation there will be comparatively other items will be selection of the little business transacted, as the convocation is essentially a time for festivity and good-fellowship. The business will be confined chiefly to the convention city for 1920, for which honors New Orleans and Portland, Ore., are expected to be the principal contenders.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine is of oriental origin and very ancient, although not introduced into America until the early '70s, when the first temple was organized in New York City. Contrary to popular belief, the order is not a regular Masonic body, it is closely allied with freemasonry, however, and its membership is composed strictly of Masons who have reached the 32d degree, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, or Knights Templar in good standing. Among the original founders of the order in the United States were General Sickles and William J. Florence, the noted actor. From the first organization in New York City the order has spread to every part of the country, with affiliated branches in Canada, Hawaii, the Philippines and elsewhere. At the present time there are about 150 temples of the order in the United States, with an aggregate membership of nearly 250,000.

Shoe Talk Worth Heeding

Men's Smart Oxfords

There is a sense of great comfort in wearing a good pair of oxfords, but in knowing that the shoes are fashionably correct there is a sense of extreme satisfaction. Our oxfords combine both comfort and style, for they are built on sensible lasts that give free play to the foot without sacrificing the good looks of the shoe. Medium toes, low, broad heels and welted soles. For quality they compare favorably with shoes sold elsewhere at higher prices.

White Shoes Essential To Complete Summer Wardrobe

A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a pair or two of white shoes for they serve many purposes and add immensely to the charm of one's costume.

White buckskin lace shoes with graceful Louis heels, and white sports shoes in high or Oxford styles are fashionable, and those women who prefer cloth to leather will have the choice of a number of styles in high lace models, with turned soles and Louis heels.

We cannot lay too much stress on the smartness of white footwear for women.

Boys' Shoes The Kind That Will Stand All Kinds of Hard Knocks, and Give Long, Satisfying Service

For the growing boy, or the boy who wants to play and play hard, there is needed shoes that will stand the wear and tear, and yet come within the reach of reasonable bounds of cost.

And shoes for such boys as these often give parents their greatest concern for a boy very often wears out one pair before he has a chance to get another.

These shoes have been built for just such boys, the kind that play good and hard, and are strong and healthy. A good manly laced model, and comfortable fitting.

UNIQUE METHOD OF TESTING AUTO TIRES

A novel method of testing automobile tires, employed by a Denver manufacturing concern, is shown in the photograph. The truck, one-half mile in circumference, presents every feature of good and bad roads. An ingenious machine, with its long arm to which the tire is attached, propels the tire around the track. A weight equivalent to that of a heavily loaded automobile is suspended over the tire in such a way that the tire itself carries the load. Once started on its journey the tire continues until it has given its maximum of mileage.

FIRE PRINCIPAL DANGER TO AUTO

Owner Should Have Extinguisher Handy and Keep Close Watch on Electrical System.

SWEEP GARAGE FLOOR OFTEN

Gasoline Tank Should Never Be Filled If There Is Open Flame Near—Go Over Connections to Discover Any Leak.

Fire is really the greatest danger with which the motorist has to cope. Not that automobiles are in the habit of catching fire regularly, but the fire, when it does come, is sudden and unrelenting. Furthermore the everyday handling of gasoline makes one careless, a warning in itself that is seldom heeded. There are so many ways in which a car can catch fire that it is the duty of every motorist to see that all possible steps are taken to prevent such accidents. A few suggestions follow that may assist in warding off the danger.

Keep Fire Extinguisher Ready. First of all have a fire extinguisher and keep it ready at all times for use. Many motorists carry them on their cars and thus reduce their insurance rates. This is the best practice, but an extra extinguisher in the garage is never out of place. The small, compact pump type is advised, as it is the best for fighting gasoline or oil fires and can be used safely around electrical apparatus. Some owners have an idea that the solution used in these extinguishers can be used for cleaning purposes, even if practicable, is hardly wise. The extra few drops may mean a lot should the car catch fire on the road.

Do not let oily rags or waste lie around the garage. Keep them in a metal container and sweep the floor often. It prevents the spread of fire. Keep the engine clean, especially the oil pan. See that there is a small hole in it under the carburetor drip. If there is none by all means make one.

Keep Flame From Tank. Never fill the gasoline tank with an open flame near. Likewise see that the funnel used makes metallic contact with the tank. It has happened that static electricity generated by the gasoline flowing through the funnel has sparked the tank and caused a serious explosion. Make sure that the tank does not leak, particularly when the tank is located under the seat. It is well to go over all gas-line connections occasionally to detect any leaks.

Install a gasoline shut-off where it can be readily reached. Some cars have them in an out-of-the-way place that is difficult to reach in an emergency. Always shut off the gasoline when leaving the car in the garage. This is even more important when an open-type coal stove is used for heating the building. A strainer should also be installed in the feed pipe if there is none on the car, and sediment should be removed once a month.

The electrical system should also be watched and the connections kept tight for a loose or grounded wire may start a fire. When cleaning the engine with a brush use one with no metal parts; a short circuit caused by the metal on the brush may ignite the gasoline used in cleaning.

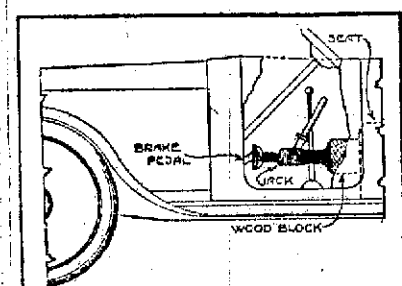

Should a fire start in the carburetor shut off the gasoline and start the engine, as racing it will soon draw all the gasoline from the carburetor. Sand can be thrown at the base of the flame, and when using the extinguisher squirt it through the radiator without raising the hood.

The best suggestion is not the least important—read this again.

ADJUSTMENT OF FOOT BRAKE

Position Shown in Illustration That Jack Should Have—Work Can Be Done Single-Handed.

To adjust automobile foot brakes single-handed jack up the rear wheels, one side at a time, while setting the band on each wheel; then, with a block against the seat panel and a jack placed in its shown to force the pedal down, turn the wheel and the screws on the brake band, adjusting it to the proper tension. Make both brake tensions equal. Take up easily one brake band at a time. By turning the wheel over with the hands the proper brake adjustments are easily made. Count the number of clicks in the jack as it is operated for each wheel, and compare them. The wheel requiring the most clicks on the jack until the wheel cannot be turned by hand must have its brake bands tightened to equalize them.—P. P. Avery, in Popular Science Monthly Magazine.

ENAMELING TO PREVENT RUST

Ordinary Material Which Dries Quickly Is of Little Use, as It Chips Off Rapidly.

In order to do away with rusting of parts beneath the hood black enamel may be resorted to with good effect. It is possible to get black enamel today which when properly applied looks little inferior to the baked-on variety. Ordinary enamels which dry quickly are of little use, as they chip and flake off quickly. Parts to be enameled should, if possible, be taken off and cleaned with a stiff wire brush. The enamel should be applied with a stiff varnish brush. The enamel may take as long as a week to dry and care must be used to have an atmosphere free from excessive dust; that means not to dry it in the upper story of a hay barn. Parts that may be enameled to advantage include steel fan blades, pulley arms, brackets and elbows, nuts that are not often disturbed, exposed pieces of shifting, pinion-wheel covers, operating rods, collars, etc. Even a cylinder casting may be so treated, as a good enamel will stand heat without blistering.

FITTING A NEW CARBURETOR

Care Should Be Taken That There Is No Looseness to Cause Vibration and Broken Flange.

In fitting a new carburetor be sure that there is no looseness to cause vibration, because if there is a broken flange will be the inevitable result. If vibration is present a small iron bracket should be installed from a nut on the engine frame to the instrument to steady it, also taking the strain off the intake pipe.

SMALL BRUSH IS HANDY TOOL

Easy to Get at Spring Leaves and Other Inaccessible Parts of Automobile.

A small brush, say five inches long, with stiff bristles, may be made into an exceedingly useful tool by screwing it on the end of a handle perhaps a foot and a half long. With this brush it is easy to clean off spring leaves and to get at other parts that are located in inaccessible positions.

HARD TO STOP WAR ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, June 2.—United Press—America is finding it almost as difficult to stop her war preparation as it was to start it.

The War Department at present is accepting huge quantities of war material. Though most of it will not be needed in the near future, unless someone starts a new war, the army has found it cheaper to finish much of the work already begun when the armistice was signed to abandon it.

Some of the items accepted since the armistice are: 976 75-millimeter guns (the famous French 75) with 5,567,000 rounds of high explosive and 2,751,000 rounds of shrapnel for them—804 6-ton tanks (light Whipper type); 247 155-millimeter guns with 414,000 high explosive shells for them; 41,000 Browning automatic rifles; 30,000 Browning machine guns; 113,000,000 pounds of smokeless powder; 2,417 5-ton tractors for hauling heavy artillery; 124,000,000 pistol and 570,000,000 rifle cartridges; 656,000 tin hats; 56 8-inch howitzers; 347,000 model 1917 rifles (modified Enfields); 115,000 automatic pistols; 12,000,000 pounds of TNT and 25,000,000 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

In the case of tanks and 75-millimeter guns, over 90 per cent. of the total production was completed after the armistice. The largest percentage of any Ordnance item to be delivered after the armistice was in the case of 155-millimeter recoil apparatus. Of these, 850 of a total of 881 were delivered after Nov. 11.

All the items mentioned, or which a considerable proportion represent, after-the-war delivery, required long preparation before manufacture could be begun. Besides constituting a valuable reserve for another war, the War Department pointed out, the material would be a total waste if it were not finished.

The War Department has terminated by cancellation since November 9 all but $350,000,000 worth of contracts originally totaling $5,650,000,000. Ordnance material represents the largest single part of the remaining contracts—$138,975,000.

Keep Uric Acid Out of Joints

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pres of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a table-spoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

POULTRY FACTS

ISOLATE ALL AILING FOWLS

Some Common Poultry Diseases and Treatment—Use Potassium Permanganate for Colds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

All diseased birds should be isolated. Colds and Roup.—Disinfect the drinking water as follows: To each gallon of water add the quantity of potassium permanganate that will remain on the surface of a dime.

Canker.—Sprinkle a little flowers of sulphur in the mouth and throat of the bird and put some chlorate of potash in the water. Also carefully remove the exudate with the aid of warm water.

A Case of Scaly Legs.

ter and paint with iodine or apply a good disinfectant to the diseased tissue.

Chicken Pox.—Apply a touch of iodine to each sore and then cover with carbolated vaseline. If the diseased parts are kept well covered with the vaseline it will usually effect a cure.

Gapes.—New ground and vigorous cultivation will often remedy this trouble. A liberal sprinkling of lime around the coops and runs is quite often an effective remedy.

Scaly Legs.—Apply vaseline containing a disinfectant to the affected parts, and after 24 hours soak in warm soapy water. Repeat treatment until cured.

Diarrhea in Hens.—Low-grade wheat flour or middlings are good for this trouble. Also give each fowl a teaspoonful of castor oil containing five drops of oil of peppermint.

Bowel Trouble in Chicks.—Well-bolled rice mixed with a little charcoal will relieve this complaint. Dissolve 12 grains of cupric acetate in each gallon of drinking water.

MORE POULTRY IS REQUIRED

Standard-Bred Fowls Increase Production and Improve Quality—Hatch Chicks Early.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Keep better poultry: Standard-bred poultry increases production and improves the quality.

Select vigorous breeders: Healthy, vigorous breeders produce strong chicks.

Hatch the chicks early: Early hatched pullets produce fall and winter eggs.

Preserve eggs for home use: Preserve when cheap for use when high in price.

Produce infertile eggs: They keep better. Fertile eggs are necessary for hatching only.

Cull the flocks: Eliminate unprofitable producers and reduce the feed bill.

Keep a back-yard flock: A small flock in the back yard will supply the family table.

Grow your poultry feed: Home-grown feed insures an available and economical supply.

Eat more poultry and eggs: By eating poultry and eggs more freely you will conserve the meat supply.

WHEAT FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Better Food Than Corn in Ration for Laying Hens—Barley is Good Substitute.

Wheat is a better food for egg production than is corn. A grain ration of wheat, oats and corn is conducive to the manufacture of eggs. Barley may be profitably substituted for the wheat during those days of wheat conservation.

HOPPER IS BIG LABOR SAVER

Satisfactory Growth Secured by Giving Fowls Access to Balanced Ration of Grain.

A hopper capable of holding a large quantity of feed is a great labor saver. By allowing the birds access to its contents a satisfactory growth is obtained, and an opportunity is given them to balance the grain rations fed. This hopper should be large enough to hold several baskets of feed, sufficient for one or two weeks.

LAYMAN MODERATOR FOR PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The 131st General Assembly of the Presbyterian church held in St. Louis from May 15 to May 24 will stand out as one of the most important General Assemblies in the history of the church.

It is unique in the first place because for the first time it elected a layman as Moderator. This was the first year in which a layman was eligible to this office. It was generally agreed that in the election of John Willis Baer the Presbyterians had chosen as their Moderator the most popular layman in their ranks.

In the second place the General Assembly paved the way for co-operation in the Interchurch World Movement of North America. It adopted a plan approving the principle of the Interchurch Movement and named conditions upon which it would cooperate.

It then gave to the Executive Commission plenary power to bring about such co-operation in due manner and time. The General Assembly rejected a proposition to delay action on the Interchurch matter for one year because it felt that the delay would be evasive, inasmuch as the Presbyterian church thought the General Assembly of 1918 had taken the initiative toward organic union of all evangelical churches.

It was felt that Presbyterians could not now fail to meet the Interchurch proposition promptly and decisively.

The New Era Movement received the greatest ovation given by the Assembly. Doctor William Hiram Faulkner, general secretary of the Movement was received with very great enthusiasm when in the report he showed the success of the Movement despite the limited time and the many obstacles with which it had to contend during this first experimental year.

General Assembly authorized the Movement to proceed on a full five year basis dating from May 1919.

In the great expansive program to which the church has set itself that of the general board of education stood out conspicuously. It involves the raising of $35,000,000 within five years for the Presbyterian colleges.

Of this amount $5,000,000 a year is to be raised by the colleges themselves and $2,000,000 is to be raised in the New Era budget. Doctor Edgar O. Hill, secretary of the board was most heartily supported in the statement that the crying need of the time was Christian leadership and that the Christian colleges must very largely supply this need.

It is worth while noting that the Assembly took definite action toward a constructive policy in the interests of capital and labor. Throughout the deliberations there ran a determined note for the church to take a position of leadership in helping to bring about amicable and constructive relations in the great industrial world. This culminated in the adoption of a strong resolution committing the church to such a policy.

Simultaneously with the general assembly the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and Telegraphers was holding its annual convention in St. Louis and the general assembly sent a fraternal greeting to this body. Personal greetings were exchanged with the Episcopal convention meeting in the city. A letter was sent to the Southern Presbyterian assembly again regarding organic union and the assembly returned a proposal for closer federal union.

Miss Annie Gale, the first woman in Canada to be elected a city alderman has now been chosen mayor of Calgary for the next three months.

FOR THE YOUTHFUL JUNE BRIDE—Her gown is of shimmering maline with a delicate edging of silver, little bows of silver and a touch of white satin. Her veil is the spirit of girlhood itself, youthful, fresh and white. (C) Underwood & Underwood.

THE bathing maid or matron trusts her dressmaker and beach togs are stunning this summer.

ALL PUFFED AND RUFFLED

BY MARGARET RHIOE
(Written for The United Press)

Maud's bathing togs so stunning are, they simply make folks rave. She always looks a perfect dream. When she goes out to bathe. But that's because Maud never yet has let her costume chic get wet. She takes great care. That just her hair. Alone in a wave.

NEW YORK, May 30—Even a Paul Swan or a Ted Shawn aren't anything to be mad about in a bathing suit and yet the male sex taken in foto and in surf attire seems to just dote upon it. Portly diplomats love to be snapped before and after taking a dip and elderly heads of corporations fall all over themselves and every one else to get their corporations in the groups pictured on society sands for the Sunday supplements.

With the laving ladies it is a different matter. A woman doesn't have to be an Annette Kellerman to look well in a bathing suit, provided of course that she doesn't insist on wearing an Annette Kellerman costume. If the costume be pretty, it little matters if the maid be plain, if she has wisely chosen one adapted to her figure or her lack of it. That's the whole secret in a seashell. Egotistic man, supremely confident of his own natural charms, casts off his tailor completely and be a perfect 36 or an imperfect 60 aged 21 or 61, he does the self-same bathing model. Whereas wise woman fastens her faith as always to her dressmaker and fastens her bathing suit with the knowledge that she is a charming figure on the sands of these times.

To taffeta or jersey cling the smartest mermaids this season, or rather the taffeta and jersey clings to them in the shape of cunning little flounced and puffed and ruffled bathing suits, if they be taffeta, and straight-hung one piece affairs if they be of other stuff.

A stunning marine blue taffeta model whose abbreviated skirt is just one scalloped ruffle after another, each scalloped piped in vivid green, has a surprise waist, scalloped edged, and just an outlying of the scallops around the arm holes. A brim, green edged, tops off the deep sea picture. Like a hula hula maid, will be the bather who affects the jersey suit of Copenhagen blue; its straight lines bound by deep organic fringe around the skirt, arm pits and oval neck.

An amicable agreement between the Chinese and Japanese is evidenced by the Chinese blue bathing suit, cut after the long trousered and hip length coated fashion of a Chinese girl's usual apparel. A touch of black and scarlet embroidery finishes the sleeves edges the coat and high close-buttoned collar and frogs of back and scarlet fasten the coat. A dashing scarlet and black Japanese parasol and a perky little blue and black cap splashed with a scarlet tassel completes this novelty in bathing attire.

As always the black taffeta or black and white costumes are dear favorites and this year they are brought up to date with vivid touches here and there of yarn embroidery or fringe.

Large figured foulards in blue and white, black and white or more hectic colorings strike the newest notes in this season's bathing modes. Indeed they strike so loud a note that the deep sea fish will have to learn to swim over their ears.

The stunning cape mantles, to be cast aside only at the water's edge,

PRICE OF MINING IN 1899

Twenty years ago yesterday, the bituminous coal miners of this region were given a voluntary advance by the operators which made the price paid for pick mining 50 cents per ton and 25 cents per ton for machine mining.

are usually of the one-toned material, whose surface is broken by applied or embroidered helioglyphics in the form of cryptic monograms and always the linings are most vividly ornate. Fringe now sprouts effectively on some of the bathing mantles, as on everything else.

Cute little silken bags, rubber-lined and monogrammed to match the cape, and the bathing suit, are outfitted with mirrors and necessary adjuncts to the deep sea complexion which needs first aid and ready relief when waves have been too ruthless.

All equipped with mantle, cap, bag and parasol you can readily see that nowadays one does more for a bath, than a ball.

100 TROMBONES FOR NOVEL CHOIR FOR CELEBRATION

A Fair Trombonist Women of Centenary Celebration Trombone Choir

One hundred trombones—nothing
but trombones—make up the unique
musical organization of the year—
the Methodist Centenary Celebration
Trombone Choir of the Celebration
at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13.

Where most orchestras or bands are
content with one trombone or possibly two, this one has one hundred
of the slip instruments—and nothing else! Impossible? Eminent musical
men have pronounced it entirely successful after hearing rehearsals for
the big exposition.

Obsolete musical instruments had
to be revived to balance the choir
when the Centenary Celebration
management decided to have such an
organization for the big Methodist
gathering. The very small trombone
held by the second woman player in
the front row, as shown in the picture, is the soprano trombone which
had not been used for one hundred
years. It had to be manufactured
especially for this choir, as did the

big F bass trombone, a majestic adjustable instrument.

These revivals of long forgotten
types of trombones were necessitated
by the make-up of the Centenary
Celebration Trombone Choir which
contains the following instruments:
Twelve sopranos, eighteen altoes,
forty tenors, eighteen baritone and
twelve basses.

These one hundred trombones are
arranged to form six separate
choirs, each a musical unit in itself.
At the extreme right of each bank
or choir are two soprano trombones,
no larger than cornets. Next come
three altoes, then two first tenors, two
second tenors. In the center of each row are the third and fourth tenors.
Next come the first, second and third
baritone, each with a part of its
own, then the big F flat bass and on
the end of each choir the F bass
trombone.

Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley, the

internationally recognized composer
of "Pilgrim's Progress" and the New England Symphony, who composed
the choir of musical composition in
the Western College for Women,
has signified his approval of this ad-
mirable musical unit by preparing several
compositions for it, as well as ar-
ranging an all-trombone orchestra
of his version of "America."

The trombone choir is only one
feature of the Centenary Celebra-
tion's musical program which includes a $50,000 pipe organ especially constructed for the exposition, a Zulu band of African natives, and a
pageant orchestra of seventy-five
pieces of the pagant "The Way-
farer," which has an off-stage chor-
us of 1,000 voices. All preparations
indicate a plenitude and diversity
of music at the Centenary Celebration.
